

Title: Eric and Genie

They did not know what to do. Then the genie had an idea. 'Eric! Let's go to find the wizard' he suggested. Eric asked, 'Why?' Genie said, 'The wizard can make a magic potion that can make you become normal height!' Eric said, 'Oh! I want to become the normal height. Let's go!'

When they went to the wizard's home, they found the wizard was in the park. The wizard asked, 'Are you Eric?' Eric said, 'Yes, I am!' The wizard yelled loudly, 'Genie! Why he is as tall as a house?' The genie said, 'Sorry ! Father!' Eric said, 'Genie, he is your father?' Genie said, 'Yes.' The wizard said, 'Oh! Genie give you a wish!'

In the end, the wizard said, 'Emm..... If you don't be greedy, I will give you a magic Potion!' Eric promised the wizard. Eric ate the magic potion and soon he turned back into the normal height.

Name: Ngai Ka Chun, Alex

Class: 6C

Problems in Africa

There are a lot of problem in Africa. Following the weather is too hot and the soil is too dry, many farmers can't grow food and go to work. The water is too dirty. When people drink the water, they will get disease easily.

Besides, many people in Africa are too poor and they do not have enough money to buy food. Also, people in Africa is hard to study because they don't have enough money to buy books and stationary. They have to share the books. And in school, since they don't have money to buy tables and chairs, students need to sit on the floor in the classroom.

To help the people in Africa, we can donate money to charity and run a second-hand stall. We can also sell or buy flags to help people in Africa. Hope it can improve their lives.

Name: Chan Sum Yee, Summer

Class: 6C

Amy and Penny

Amy and her sister Penny were at Rainbow Centre last Saturday. They wanted to be helpers at the Charity Fun Fair. They could make either cakes or cookies. Amy said, ‘ We can help the poor people. It sounds great!’

Then, Amy said, ‘ Can you make cakes or cookies?’ Penny replied, ‘ No! It is so difficult to make them!’ Amy said, ‘Yes! I think so!’

After that, they met Mrs Chan. Mrs Chan asked, ‘ Why do you so unhappy?’ Amy and Penny replied, ‘ Neither Amy nor I can make cakes or cookies!’ Mrs Chan said, ‘ Oh! Maybe I can help!’ They felt happy.

In the end, Mrs Chan helped them to make cakes and cookies. They raised a lot of money for the charity. Amy and Penny said, ‘ Thank you! Mrs Chan!’ They felt very pleased.

Name: Yen Cheuk Ming, Bosco

Class: 6C

Mark and the monster

A long time ago, there was a strong man called Mark who was living in a village. The villagers thought he was as strong as an ox. They even thought he could kill the lion too.

One day, a terrible monster appeared in the village. He broke the trees and destroyed the villager's house. So the villager said to Mark, 'Please help us! The monster is very dangerous because it will kill us. So we hope you can help us to kill the monster. It lives in a cave.' Soon, the villager took Mark to the cave.

Suddenly, the monster woke up and it looked very angry. Mark was scared and nervous. He was as timid as a mouse. Fortunately, a cake rolled out from his pocket. The monster was pleased when it saw the cake. It took the cake immediately.

After that, Mark said to the villagers that the monster was kind and it loved eating cakes. In the end, the monster lived happily with them as the villagers gave the monster a cake every day.

Name: Ngai Ka Chun, Alex

Class: 6C

A day tour in Hong Kong

Miss Morris was an Australian tourist visiting Hong Kong. Her friends met her in the airport. ‘This is the first time I come to Hong Kong. I feel so excited today,’ said Miss Morris happily. ‘We’ll show you around Hong Kong,’ her friend said.

First, they went to a bus stop. There were a lot of buses on the road. Miss Morris said impatiently, ‘The traffic makes so much noise. The buses produce so many fumes. Therefore it will harm our respiratory and auditory system.’ ‘Hong Kong people should use more public transport,’ Miss Morris suggested.

Then, they went to a department store. There were a lot of commodities. Miss Morris saw some bags. They make from crocodile skin. ‘Hunters will keep killing crocodile unless people stop buying leather handbags,’ said Miss Morris.

After that, her friends took her to a seafood restaurant. ‘Let’s eat shark fin soup together. Today it has special offer. Only one hundred dollars each,’ said her friend excitedly. ‘But people kill sharks for their fins. Therefore there are very few left in the sea,’ said Miss Morris. ‘Then what should we do?’ asked her friend. ‘We should stop eating shark fin soup. Sharks will become extinct unless we stop eating shark fin soup.’

Finally, they went to eat some local street-side snack such as curry fish ball, beef ball and pig skin. They were very happy. ‘We should protect our environment,' said Miss Morris. 'OK!' said her friend.

Name: Hung Yu Sen, Anson

Class: 6C

Farewell my friend

Dear Tim,

I'm so sad that I am leaving soon. We've been friends for many years.

You are diligent. When I was playing or sleeping at night, you were still studying. You are always hard-working. You are loyal too. Sometimes when I need help, you always be there and help me at first.

My unforgettable memory with you was we joined a competition at STEM day. On that day, you gave me a lot of suggestions. You are creative. Although we lost in the competition, you didn't felt upset. You also made some jokes to let the other teammates laughed happily. I hope your dream will come true in the future.

Keep in touch!

Best wishes,

Anson

Name: Yen Cheuk Ming, Bosco

Class: 6C

Losing the race

Last week, Kelvin, Tony, Dan and Jacky joined a relay race together. They were full of confident. They said happily, 'We can run fast like a rocket.' They were excited about the race.

The race started and they become the first team in the race. But Tony tripped and fell over. Suddenly near the finishing line, Tony felt painful and sad. Soon they become the last team in the race. Luckily, the cheering team were cheering loudly for Tony. So he stood up and finished the race.

In the end, Kelvin patted Dan's shoulder and said, 'Don't be upset.' Then Kelvin asked Tony, 'Are you OK?' Tony said, 'I'm OK. Thanks for being so understanding.' Jacky said, 'Let's run in the relay again next year. We can win next time!' 'Sure,' smiled Tony.